Article 21 – Intellectual Property

21.01 Intellectual property will be administered according to the Intellectual Property policy as appended as Appendix "D" to this agreement. For clarity, only the appended version of the policy will apply for this Agreement, even if the Employer changes the policy for other employee groups.

- 21.02 Notwithstanding the provisions 6.3(a) of the Intellectual Property policy, the University retains the right to negotiate with an intellectual property creator, dependent on factors pertinent to the particular fact situation, a percentage share of commercialization that is of lesser value for the University.
- 21.03 Disputes that may arise with respect to the outcome of the application of the Intellectual Property policy, and for which the parties are solely the University and a Teaching Faculty Member or Members included in the bargaining unit as set out in Article 2.01, will not be resolved through the Dispute Resolution procedure of the Intellectual Property policy or the Grievance and Arbitration procedure set out in Article 11 of this collective agreement. Such disputes will be resolved through the process set out in Article 21.04. Any dispute with respect to Intellectual Property that involves any other party not covered by the provisions of the Collective Agreement will be resolved using the Dispute Resolution procedure of the Intellectual Property policy.
- 21.04 Disputes that may arise with respect to the outcome of the application of the Intellectual Property policy, and for which the parties are solely the University and a Teaching Faculty Member or members included in the bargaining unit as set out in Article 2.01, will be resolved as follows:
- i. The Teaching Faculty Member will contact the Faculty Association to produce a statement describing the basis for the dispute and the Faculty Association will submit this statement to the Director of Human Resources within a calendar month of the last meeting with, or response from, the University on the matter in dispute.
 - ii. Within fifteen (15) days of receipt of this statement, the Director of Human Resources will convene a meeting with the Faculty Association and the Teaching Faculty Member and two (2) representatives of the Employer in order to determine whether an informal resolution of the matter can be reached.
 - iii. Within ten (10) Days of a meeting under (ii) above which fails to achieve a resolution to the matter, the Faculty Association will advise the Director of Human Resources of the name of its nominee to an Intellectual Property Appeal Committee. Failing such notice, the matter will be deemed to have been resolved on the basis of the University's last stated position on the matter.
 - iv. Within ten (10) Days of receipt of notification under (iii) above, the Employer will appoint a nominee to the Intellectual Property Appeal Committee.

- v. The nominees will confer, within ten (10) Days of the appointment of the second of them, to agree on a Chair of the Intellectual Property Appeal Committee who has experience with Intellectual Property matters. Failing agreement on a Chair, the Faculty Association and the Employer will appoint a Chair of the Intellectual Property Appeal Committee.
- vi. The Intellectual Property Appeal Committee will have the powers of an Arbitrator under the Ontario Labour Relations Act, but has no jurisdiction to alter, amend, add to or subtract from this Collective Agreement or the University Intellectual Property policy or to render a decision inconsistent with the terms of either of them.
- vii. A decision of an Intellectual Property Appeal Committee will be final and binding on the University, the Faculty Association and the intellectual property creator(s).
- viii. Each party will pay the fees and expenses of its nominee to an Intellectual Property Appeal Committee and fifty percent of the fees and expenses of the Chair.

21.05 For clarity, if the Employer exercises its right (per section 3.1 of the policy) to “copy, use or modify” a Teaching Faculty Member’s material, it is the Employer’s responsibility to obtain permissions, for any distributions or publications of that material, from any non-faculty authors with copyright in that material. It is the Teaching Faculty Member’s responsibility to identify such authorship.

Article 22 – Redeployment, Layoff, and Recall Procedures

22.01 A Teaching Faculty Member may relinquish his/her appointment through retirement or resignation. Layoff pursuant to this article is not dismissal for cause, under Article 23 (Discipline), and shall not be recorded or reported as such. The Employer may layoff Teaching Faculty Members only for the following reasons:

- a) The institution experiences substantial or recurring financial losses which threaten continued functioning of the institution; or
- b) The closure of a program for academic reasons pursuant to a recommendation by Academic Council, a change in institutional mandate, substantial or recurring financial losses within a program, or enrollments that have been demonstrably too low to sustain the program.

- 22.02 Before a Teaching Faculty Member is laid off as a result of conditions under 22.01, the Employer shall make all reasonable efforts to avoid such layoff through attrition or through the redeployment of a potentially affected Teaching Faculty Member to other work assignments for which they possess the necessary skills, qualifications, expertise and experience. The Employer may require a potentially affected Teaching Faculty Member to take reasonable additional training. Costs of such training shall be borne by the Employer.
- 22.03 The Association shall be given twenty (20) Days' notice of impending layoff prior to notifying a Teaching Faculty Member of a layoff as a result of conditions under Article 22.01. The Employer shall meet with the Association to describe the circumstances of the potential layoff and provide documentation of its efforts under Article 22.02. The Parties may discuss and agree to alternative arrangements that meet the operational needs of the Employer and forestall or eliminate the need for the layoff.
- 22.04 Failing such agreement under Article 22.03, the Employer shall provide to the Association a list of the Teaching Faculty Members it intends to provide with notice of layoff and proceed with the provision of notice under Article 22.05.
- 22.05 The Employer shall provide the Teaching Faculty Member with six (6) months' notice of layoff, in writing. The notice of layoff shall set out the layoff date of the Teaching Faculty Member, and shall provide, where possible, specific information on alternative employment arrangements available to the Teaching Faculty Member and options related to recall and severance under Articles 22.14 to 22.17. The period from the date on the notice of layoff up to and including the layoff date shall be the notice period. If the Teaching Faculty Member is not available to receive the notice directly as per Article 8.03, it shall be sent by registered mail to his/her current address on the Employer's file and be deemed to have been received two (2) Days later than the date on the registered mail documentation.
- 22.06 Where a reduction of (a) Teaching Faculty Member(s) is required, layoff shall take place in the following order:
- First: Teaching Faculty Members who do not possess the qualifications, skills, and abilities to meet the continuing program needs.
- Second: Teaching Faculty Members without Continuing Appointments in reverse order of seniority.

Third: Teaching Faculty Members with Continuing Appointments in reverse order of seniority.

The Association shall be provided with current seniority lists within each of the categories. If two (2) or more members have equal seniority, the order of layoff shall be decided by lot.

22.07 Seniority for the purposes of Article 22.06 shall be accrued on an institution-wide basis for time in a position as a Teaching Faculty Member.

- a) A Teaching Faculty Member shall begin accruing seniority from the date of hire according to Article 15 (Appointments) if their appointment was after June 30, 2012.
- b) The seniority of a Teaching Faculty Member who began working for the Employer prior to June 30, 2012 shall be based on the following:
 - i. Date of hire as a Teaching Faculty Member;
 - ii. A Teaching Faculty Member hired on a reduced workload shall have his/her seniority calculated proportionally;
 - iii. Seniority shall continue to be acquired during the following leaves: professional development, maternity, parental, adoption, bereavement, compassionate, compassionate care, court, disability;
 - iv. Seniority shall continue to be acquired through all discipline suspensions, appeals, grievances, and/or arbitrations; and
 - v. Seniority shall not be acquired during appointments outside the bargaining unit with the exception of an appointment as a member of the UOIT Board of Governors.

- c) Loss of Seniority
An Employee shall lose all seniority if s/he resigns his/her appointment or is terminated for cause.

22.08 During the notice period under Article 22.05, the Employer shall continue its efforts to identify an alternative to layoff that meets its operational needs. When any new continuing and/or limited term positions are created or available, the members on impending layoff will be notified.

- 22.09 The layoff date of a Teaching Faculty Member in receipt of a notice of layoff while on a maternity, parental, LTD or WSIB leave shall be the end of the Academic Term in which he/she returns from the leave.
- 22.10 While a Teaching Faculty Member is expected to continue to work as assigned during the notice period, the Employer, at its sole discretion, may excuse the Teaching Faculty Member from some or all of his/her work obligations during the notice period.
- 22.11 A Teaching Faculty Member who resigns or retires during the notice period is not eligible for severance pay under Article 22.16.
- 22.12 During the notice period, a Teaching Faculty Member shall be afforded reasonable approved absence with pay for the purpose of seeking employment. Requests for such absences must first be made to the Dean and shall not be unreasonably withheld.
- 22.13 At the end of the notice period, effective on the layoff date set out in the notice of layoff, all Teaching Faculty Members who are in receipt of such notice under Article 22.05 shall be eligible either to be placed on a recall list under Article 22.14 or to accept a severance payment under Article 22.16.
- 22.14 All laid off Teaching Faculty Members shall have recall rights for two (2) years from the date of the Teaching Faculty Member's layoff. The Employer shall provide the Association with a list of any employees who have been laid off and are on recall status.
- 22.15 A Teaching Faculty Member shall be recalled to an open position for which he/she possesses the necessary skills, qualifications, expertise and experience. In the event that more than one of the Teaching Faculty Members on the recall list are so qualified, the Teaching Faculty Member(s) shall be recalled in the reverse order of layoff as set out in Article 22.06.
- 22.16 At the end of the notice period, effective on the layoff date set out in the notice of layoff, all Teaching Faculty Members who are in receipt of such notice under Article 22.05 who have not elected to be placed on a recall list under Article 22.14, or whose recall rights under Article 22.14 have expired without him/her having been recalled, shall receive a severance payment on the basis of one (1) month's base salary per complete year of employment with the Employer at his/her then current salary rate to a maximum of six (6) months' salary. An employee who refuses a recall for a Teaching Faculty position is not eligible for severance under this Article.

- 22.17 The Employer shall provide Teaching Faculty Members who elect to accept severance pay at the end of the layoff notice period rather than be placed on the recall list under Article 22.14, or whose recall rights have expired without recall, with a severance letter that sets out the extent of his/her eligibility for any benefits under the Collective Agreement.
- 22.18 If the employment of a Teaching Faculty Member is terminated for cause, under Article 23 (Discipline), no notice shall be given and no severance shall be paid.
- 22.19 The Association shall have the right to take all grievances arising from this Article directly to Step 2 of the Grievance Process in Article 11.

In these circumstances, the Employer shall proceed as expeditiously as possible with a view to minimizing the period of time of the removal. Every effort will be made to conclude the investigation within fifteen (15) Days. Should more than fifteen (15) Days be required, the Provost will advise the Teaching Faculty Member and the Faculty Association, if involved. However, any elected official whose civic duties infringe upon his/her University responsibilities should seek an appropriate adjustment of University responsibilities.

- c) Should a Teaching Faculty Member continue to serve in public office after the expiry of an Employer granted leave, the Teaching Faculty Member shall be deemed to have resigned his/her University post. Such a resignation does not preclude the possibility of a reappointment by the Employer under conditions satisfactory to all concerned.
- d) If, in the assessment of the Dean, the Teaching Faculty Member's performance is being adversely affected by civic duties then the Dean will discuss the matter with the Teaching Faculty Member and make appropriate adjustments to the Teaching Faculty Member's workload. The Employer will pay ninety-three percent (93%) of the Teaching Faculty Member's annual base salary for the two (2) week waiting period required for an EI eligible leave.

Children's Orthodontia	50% coverage $1,500 lifetime maximum per child

Health Care Expense Account (HCEA)

Each January 1st, the Employer will deposit $750 into a Health Care Expense Account (HCEA) in the employee's name. This amount will increase to $900 effective January 1, 2014. In addition, employees have the flexibility to direct up to two percent (2%) of their pensionable earnings to the HCEA from the Employer's supplemental contribution to the employees' pension plans. Through the HCEA, an employee can pay for eligible health care expenses not fully covered by the UOIT Benefits Plan.

The benefit of using the HCEA to pay for health care expenses is that, by doing so, employees use before-tax contributions from the Employer, rather than their own after-tax income. The money the Employer deposits in an employee's HCEA is not subject to federal or provincial taxes. The HCEA also provides reimbursement for a broader range of health care services such as prescription sunglasses, laser eye surgery, orthodontia expenses above plan maximums, coinsurance amounts, and prescription drugs not covered under the plan. A list of all eligible HCEA expenses are available from Human Resources.

The coverage is one hundred percent (100%) paid for by the Employer. The maximum basic life insurance benefit is $250,000.

B) Employee Optional Life Insurance

In addition to the basic life insurance provided by the Employer, an employee can purchase additional life insurance coverage for him/herself that the employee pays for through payroll deductions. The optional coverage available is:

- up to $500,000 of employee optional life insurance coverage in units of $10,000.

C) Spouse and Child(ren)'s Optional Life Insurance

An employee can purchase life insurance coverage for his/her spouse and dependent child(ren). The employee pays for the cost of this coverage through payroll deductions. The optional spouse's and children's coverage available is:

- up to $500,000 of spouse's optional life insurance coverage in units of $10,000
- up to $15,000 of children's optional life insurance coverage in units of $5,000

Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD&D)

AD&D Insurance provides coverage should an employee or a covered dependent die or become seriously injured as the result of an accident. Through the Benefits Plan, employees have access to AD&D for themselves, their spouse and/or dependent children.

A) Employee Basic AD&D Insurance

Through the basic AD&D insurance benefit, an employee automatically receives coverage equivalent to:

- one times his/her base salary.

The coverage is one hundred percent (100%) paid for by the Employer. The maximum basic AD&D insurance benefit is $250,000.

B) Employee Optional AD&D Insurance

In addition to the basic AD&D insurance benefit, an employee can purchase additional AD&D insurance coverage for him/herself that the employee pays for through payroll deductions. The optional coverage available is:

- up to $250,000 of employee optional AD&D insurance coverage in units of $10,000.

C) Spouse and Child(ren)'s Optional AD&D Insurance

If an employee decides to purchase AD&D insurance coverage for his/her spouse and/or dependent children, he/she would pay for the cost of this coverage through payroll deductions. The optional spouse's and children's coverage available is:

- up to $150,000 of spouse's optional AD&D insurance coverage in units of $10,000
- up to $15,000 of children's optional AD&D insurance coverage in units of $5,000

Pension Plan

The UOIT Pension Plan is a defined contribution plan where the employee and the Employer work together to help build an employee's retirement savings.

How the Plan Works

Contributions by UOIT

Under the Pension Plan, there are two components to the Employer's contribution:

- 1) A basic contribution of six percent (6%) of the employee's pensionable earnings, and
- 2) A supplemental contribution of two percent (2%) of an employee's pensionable earnings.

Through the supplemental component of the University's contribution, each year an employee will have the flexibility to decide how to direct part or all of the Employer's two percent (2%) supplemental contribution (in 0.5% increments) to either the Pension Plan or the Health Care Expense Account. The Employer's contributions to the Pension Plan are immediately vested (i.e. an employee immediately owns these contributions).

Under the Income Tax Act, there is a limit on combined employee and employer contributions to the Pension Plan. This limit will change annually and further information is available through Human Resources. Any Employer contributions in excess of this limit will be directed to an account held outside the Pension Plan, known as the Supplemental Retirement Arrangement.

Contributions by the Employee

In addition to the Employer's contribution, each year an employee will be required to make a contribution of three percent (3%) of his/her pensionable earnings to the plan. An employee may also decide to make voluntary contributions to the plan of one percent (1%), two percent (2%) or three percent (3%) of his/her pensionable earnings.

Basic UOIT Contribution		Supplemental UOIT Contribution		Required Faculty Contribution		Voluntary Faculty Contribution		Total
6%	+	0% to 2% (as elected by the employee)	+	3%	+	0% to 3% (as elected by the employee)	=	9% to 14%

Investing Contributions to the Pension Plan

An employee decides how his/her contributions and the Employer's contributions are invested by selecting from a list of investment funds. Sun Life Financial is the administrator of the Pension Plan and will register and track an employee's investment choices.

Receiving Your Pension

When an employee retires or leaves UOIT, he/she will be able to transfer his/her account balance from the Pension Plan to a locked-in retirement account or use his/her balance to purchase an annuity. Any voluntary contributions an employee has made to the Pension Plan are not considered "locked-in" and can be withdrawn or transferred at that time to a non-locked-in investment vehicle.

Appendix “C” – List of Arbitrators

The Employer and the Faculty Association have agreed to a mutually satisfactory list of arbitrators:

Kevin Burkett

Appendix “D” – Intellectual Property

Preamble

The university believes that efforts to increase and to communicate knowledge are at the heart of academic endeavors. Often these endeavors will result in the creation of Intellectual Property that may be of benefit to the broader society. In general, the university believes that the creators of intellectual property should retain rights in it in cases where the creators are academic personnel. Normally, when the creators are non-academic personnel, the university will claim all rights to intellectual property because it assumes that it was created in the course of the creators' employment with the university, or was commissioned by the university. The university also believes that significant investments of university funds should not be exploited solely for private gain. Accordingly, the goal of these policies is to encourage the creation of intellectual property, and to facilitate its development and commercialization, while ensuring that the academic freedom and interests of university personnel, and of the university itself, are safeguarded.

Applicability

These intellectual property policies apply to all university personnel who make or develop intellectual property using university support. They also apply, with necessary changes, to external contractors if the terms of their contracts with the university do not specify ownership of the intellectual property produced under the terms of the contract.

These policies do not apply to intellectual property created by independent efforts, in the course of demonstrably private research, or in the course of private consulting activities to outside bodies, when such activities do not involve any substantial use of university support, and where the university has approved such consulting activities.

Definitions

Terms used in these policies are defined in Appendix A.

1. Policy on Ownership and Acknowledgement of Intellectual Property

1.1 Ownership

Subject to the exceptions and limitations herein, the university's policy is that academic personnel should own the intellectual property created by them in the course of their teaching, research and academic work.

Exceptions to the above are as follows:

- a) The university retains ownership of intellectual property resulting from projects specifically commissioned by the university.
- b) In externally-sponsored or contract research activities, ownership of intellectual property may be determined in whole or in part by regulations of the sponsor or the terms of the contract. University personnel participating in these research activities must be made aware of any such regulations or contract terms by the principal investigator (i.e. the leader of the research project).

The university owns intellectual property created by non-academic personnel in the course of their employment.

1.2 License

To the extent that ownership of intellectual property governed by these policies is vested in university personnel, such intellectual property is subject to a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license in favour of the university for teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic purposes. Such licenses are subject to the exceptions and limitations contained in these policies, including the right of the creator in certain circumstances to require discontinuance of use after five years.

1.3 Responsibilities

One of the responsibilities of researchers is the obligation to ensure that their work is published or publicly disseminated in some manner. At the university, this responsibility is shared by all material contributors to the work. In reporting scholarly research results, all creators of a publication must examine and accept responsibility for its contents, and all members of a research team must ensure that appropriate credit be given for the contributions of all contributors.

1.4 Recognition

Creators of a publication comprise all, and only, those individuals who have made a significant intellectual or scholarly contribution to the work reported, and without whose contribution the work would not be complete. All contributors to research projects and other scholarly works must receive appropriate recognition for their contributions. The order of listing of contributors should follow existing traditions of the discipline. No decisions concerning the publication or licensing of a work may be made without the unanimous agreement of all the creators. Depending on the nature of a contribution, appropriate recognition may take the form of, but is not limited to, recognition as a creator, or recognition through an acknowledgement or citation. An administrative relationship to the investigator(s) does not merit credit, nor is financial support sufficient on its own to merit such credit.

1.5 Acknowledgement of the University

In reporting their work, university personnel shall acknowledge the University of Ontario Institute of Technology for the support it provided. In the spirit of collegiality, creators of intellectual property are encouraged to recognize the university's support through a financial contribution.

1.6 Use of the University's Name and Marks

In order to protect its reputation, the university must control the use of its name and marks. This requirement is especially important in the context of non-university sponsored commercialization of intellectual property. Under no circumstances may the university be presented, directly or indirectly, as endorsing or warranting a particular product. Accordingly, any use of the university's name or any university-owned mark in connection with any product, service, research project or work, apart from indication of the institutional affiliation of the creator(s), requires explicit written permission from the university's Associate Provost, Research.

For additional information on the use of the university's marks, please refer to the Guidelines on Use of the University's Marks, which can be found on the university website.

1.7 Third-Party Rights

University personnel are expected to respect third-party intellectual property rights. This obligation precludes the unauthorized use, reproduction, modification, translation or adaptation of software, photocopied textbooks, and the like, unless permission has been obtained from the copyright holder.

For additional information, please refer to the Integrity in Research and Scholarship Policy, which can be found on the university website.

1.8 Collaborative Research

The university encourages researchers to share information and to work in collaboration with others, where this is likely to advance the state of knowledge. Collaboration agreements between academic personnel and researchers at outside institutions, agencies, and companies must specify, in advance and in writing, how the process by which the rights to intellectual property arising out of the collaboration will be determined. The determination of rights shall be based on the extent and nature of the contribution, and not on differences in power or rank. The rights of students involved in research projects, particularly with respect to recognition and the assignment of grades must be protected. Where university facilities and/or funds administered by the university are involved, the university must be a party to the agreement. Any waiver or modification of rights requires informed consent.

1.9 Further Information

These policies are not intended to provide a general explanation of the legal principles and practical implications associated with intellectual property. For a general explanation, please refer to the Guidelines on Intellectual Property, which can be found on the university website.

2. Policy on Copyright and Patents

2.1 Copyright

The general principles regarding copyright in works created by university personnel is stated in Policy 1.1.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the university's grant of copyright ownership in scholarly works created by academic personnel in the course of teaching, research and academic activities shall be subject to the condition that the creator(s) shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy, use and modify such works in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university. The creator(s) shall waive all moral rights in the works to the extent necessary to exercise such license rights.

The creator(s) may, however, after five years discontinue the university's license in the works due to the content of the works becoming out-of-date or being in the judgment of the creator acting reasonably, inappropriately used by the university. Evidence of the reasons for discontinuance must be provided by the creator to the Associate Provost, Research. If the discontinuance is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

Under special circumstances involving creators' rights to the special and proprietary intellectual content of the works in question, creators have the right to request exemption of some or all of these works from this provision. If such a request is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

2.2 Patents

The general principles regarding Patent rights in Inventions created by university personnel is stated in Policy 1.1.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the ownership by university personnel of Patent rights in Inventions created by them shall be subject to the following conditions:

- a) The creator(s) shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to make, use, and sell such patented or patentable Inventions solely for the university's teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities.
- b) The creator(s) shall keep the university informed about all patent filings in Canada and other countries through annual activity reports or other appropriate means.

3. Policy on Teaching Materials, Computer Software, and Databases

3.1 Teaching Materials

The issue of ownership of teaching materials is especially complex when it involves course content and materials which are a product of academic research, and therefore owned by the faculty member, but the presentation of which is significantly contributed to by non-academic personnel of the university from the Centre of Academic Excellence and Innovation and elsewhere, and is therefore to that extent owned by the university. Accordingly, there is particular need for clear policies and procedures to determine who will share in any benefits resulting from the development and commercialization of such intellectual property.

Notwithstanding Policy 1.1, the grant of ownership of copyright in teaching materials to the academic personnel who create these materials is limited. Copyright ownership of teaching materials, the creation of which was significantly contributed to by non-academic personnel, is shared equally by the creator(s) and the university. In the event that such teaching materials are commercialized, the provisions of Article 6 will apply.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the university's grant of copyright ownership in teaching materials shall be subject to the condition that, to the extent the creator(s) have rights in such teaching materials, they shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy, use and modify such teaching materials in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university. The creator(s) shall waive all moral rights in the teaching materials to the extent necessary to exercise such license rights.

The creator(s) may, however, after five years discontinue the university's license in the teaching materials due to the content of the teaching materials becoming out-of-date or being inappropriately used by the university. Evidence of the reasons for discontinuance must be provided by the creator to the Associate Provost, Research. If the discontinuance is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

Under special circumstances involving creators' rights to the special and proprietary intellectual content of the teaching materials in question, creators have the right to request exemption of some or all of these teaching materials from this provision. If such a request is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

3.2 Computer Software

Notwithstanding Policy 1.1, the grant of ownership of copyright in computer software to the academic personnel who create these materials is limited. Copyright ownership of computer software, the creation of which was significantly contributed to by non-academic personnel, is shared equally by the creator(s) and the university. In the event that such computer software is commercialized, the provisions of Article 6 will apply.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the university's grant of copyright ownership in computer software shall be subject to the following conditions:

- a) To the extent the creator(s) have rights in such computer software, the creator(s) shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy, use and modify such computer software in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university. The creator(s) shall waive all moral rights in the computer software to the extent necessary to exercise such license rights.
- b) The creator(s) shall provide the university with all source code, object code and relevant documentation, together with all updates thereto from time to time, in respect of the computer software for the purposes of the license rights granted in paragraph (a) above.

3.3 Data and Database Management

Databases created in the course of research may be copyrightable and thus fall under the copyright policy (See Article 2.1).

This Policy is concerned with the ownership of, and the right to use, original data collected or measured in the course of teaching, academic and research activities involving academic personnel. It is not concerned with data from external sources used in research at the university, other than to assert the obligation that publications or theses using such data must recognize and fully document their sources.

Academic personnel have the obligation to protect and preserve, for a reasonable period (defined by the norms of the discipline), and to make available to other scholars and non-commercial users, the data on which their work is based.

Ownership of data assembled by academic personnel in the course of their research may be contentious and, because access to it is important for research and scholarship, ownership shall be jointly held by the university and the creator(s), notwithstanding Policy 1.1, subject to the following conditions:

- a) To the extent that the creator(s) have rights in such data, the creator(s) grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy and use any or all such data in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university.
- b) The creator(s) shall make available the resulting data set(s), after completion and publication of the thesis or paper on which the data set is based, to other university personnel for royalty-free, non-commercial use in teaching, research and academic activities within the university.

Notwithstanding the above, all university personnel have the collegial obligation to allow the owner(s) of such data a first opportunity to exploit those data for published work.

Exceptions to these rules are allowed only when the research is subject to confidentiality requirements due to contractual arrangements with a sponsoring agency, to publication delays associated with patent applications, or to university ethics constraints on research involving human subjects or animals which are contained in the Research Ethics Policy and Procedures, which can be found on the university's website. In the case of contractual limitations, all collaborators must be made aware of, and agree in advance to, such constraints.

4. Policy on Contract Research

4.1 Ownership of Intellectual Property in Contract Research

In externally-sponsored or contract research activities, ownership of intellectual property rights may be determined in whole or in part by the regulations of the sponsor, or by the terms of the contract. Consistent with the university's policies on Research, which can be found on the university website, academic personnel must retain the right to publish their work within a reasonable period, and to use the results of the research in subsequent projects, recognising the limitations that may derive from proprietary data, and must adhere to the academic and professional standards of their disciplines. All academic personnel participating in such research activities must be made aware of any ownership stipulations of the contract by the principal investigator, or by any other designated leader of the research project.

Guidelines on reasonable limitations/exceptions are:

- a) University personnel entering into a relationship that will limit their enjoyment of normal academic benefits of their research must enter into it with informed consent.
- b) Externally sponsored or contract research contracts will be negotiated by the Associate Provost, Research in consultation with the academic personnel proposing to undertake such research activities.
- c) In situations where companies or agencies that fund research retain ownership of intellectual property generated by that research, some other academic benefit must be derived. That is, the research must support the generation and dissemination of knowledge in some other way (for example, by funding laboratories that directly support other research). Whether any agreement for sponsored research will result in academic benefit to the academic personnel and the university will be decided by the Associate Provost, Research in consultation with the academic personnel and the appropriate Dean. Decisions of the Associate Provost, Research may be appealed under the provisions of Article 8.
- d) It is the responsibility of academic personnel to ensure that the terms of their consulting agreements with third parties, which must have the approval of the Associate Provost, Research do not conflict with their commitments to the university. Each individual must make the nature of her/his obligations to the university clear to any third party for whom she/he expects to consult.

4.2 Confidential Disclosure Agreements

A Confidential Disclosure Agreement [CDA], sometimes referred to as a secrecy, confidentiality or non-disclosure agreement, is used when one party wishes to disclose confidential information to a second party, but wishes the second party to maintain the confidentiality of the information. Non-disclosure provisions can either stand alone as a separate agreement or be incorporated into a broader agreement.

In the event that a corporate sponsor wishes academic personnel to use confidential information, or that academic personnel wish to disclose confidential information, such as a patent application, to a third party, a CDA must be entered into to protect both parties.

All CDAs must be submitted to the Associate Provost, Research for review. If the terms of a CDA extend to other participants in a project or activity, it is the responsibility of the principal investigator to inform all participants of their obligations under the CDA and, if necessary, to develop CDAs for them.

4.3 Material Transfer Agreements

Materials, for example biological materials, are often distributed by scientists to their colleagues for a variety of purposes, such as duplication and confirmation of experimental results or evaluation of the material for alternate uses. Such intellectual property is an important factor in attracting research funding. For this reason, the university will help academic personnel review Material Transfer Agreements [MTAs] and other agreements that arise out of their interaction with industry. All such agreements must be approved by the Associate Provost, Research. In all cases, the university requires researchers to sign an MTA to ensure that these materials are used only for scientific research and not for commercial applications. If the material is being transferred for commercial application, its use shall be governed by a license agreement.

Each MTA requires university authorization and an authorized university signature. academic personnel must enter into an MTA prior to distributing or receiving any such materials.

Because MTAs often contain restrictions on intellectual property and publication, all MTAs must be submitted to the Associate Provost, Research for review. If the terms and conditions of the MTA are unacceptable to the university, the Associate Provost, Research, in consultation with the researcher, will attempt to negotiate other terms acceptable to all parties.

5. Other Types of Intellectual Property

Other types of intellectual property in Canada and other jurisdictions include industrial designs, trade-marks, domain names, integrated circuit topographies, plant breeders' rights and trade secret rights. While different types of intellectual property have different rules and requirements governing their protection, these types of intellectual property follow the same philosophy as outlined in Policy 1.

If you have any questions concerning other types of intellectual property and the university's Policies, please contact the Associate Provost, Research.

6. Policy on the Commercialization of Intellectual Property

6.1 Timely Disclosure

Academic Personnel who have developed intellectual property which they intend to commercialize must inform the Associate Provost, Research in advance, in writing, and in a timely way of their intentions. Such disclosure must include the nature of the intellectual property, the names of all co-creators, the source of funding for the research project out of which the intellectual property emerged, and any other relevant information. At the time of disclosure, the university will inform the creator(s) that they may commercialize the intellectual property themselves, or may offer it to the university to commercialize, and will provide sources of information about those options.

6.2 Commercialization by the Creators

When creator(s) elect to commercialize the intellectual property, they assume responsibility for legally protecting and marketing it, finding a licensee, negotiating a license agreement, and administering that agreement. Any such license agreement must contain full and complete releases and indemnification in favour of the university, with respect to the commercialized intellectual property. Such creator(s) will pay the university 25% of Net Revenues arising from the intellectual property or 10% of Gross Revenue, whichever is greater, on an annual basis.

Any such intellectual property shall remain subject to the license and other rights of the university under these policies.

Where Academic and non-academic personnel are co-creators of an intellectual property and where the university has not waived its ownership rights as the employer of such non-academic personnel, then the university's Associate Provost, Research shall represent the university's interest in all matters related to this intellectual property, including but not limited to Patents, sale, licensing or any other commercialization activity.

If creators pursue commercialization on their own, the university is not responsible for any legal, development, marketing and other costs they may incur, including patent prosecutions.

6.3 Commercialization by the University

Creator(s), at their option, may offer the intellectual property to the university for commercialization. The university retains the absolute and sole right to determine if it wishes to accept such intellectual property for commercialization.

Before the university accepts any assignment, it may seek a commercial and/or technical assessment. Prior to the university conducting any such assessment, the university shall require the creator(s) to enter into an agreement with the following terms and conditions:

- a) If the university accepts the offer, then the creator(s) agree to assign all intellectual property Rights and other rights to the university, including assignments of Patents, if any. The university shall thereafter deal with such rights, including any further assignment to some specialized external agency, as it deems most expedient. The university shall assume sole responsibility and authority for legally protecting and marketing the intellectual property, finding a licensee or buyer, determining the terms of the license or sale, negotiating a license or sale agreement, and administering that agreement. The university shall retain 75% of Net Revenue arising from the intellectual property, and the creator(s) shall receive 25%, payable on an annual basis, unless the university and the creator(s) agree to a fixed percentage of Gross Revenue that is of equal or greater value for the university.
- b) If, because of this assessment, the university decides not to act to protect and/or commercialize the rights to the intellectual property, these rights shall be returned to the creator(s).
- c) If, the university has accepted the assignment of the intellectual property and if, after a period of two years from the later of the date of such assignment (or if a Patent is involved, the date of issuance of the Patent), the rights to the intellectual property have not been assigned or licensed, they may be, at the creator's request, assigned back to the creator, in return for an agreement by the creator to: (1) reimburse the university for all Development Expenses prior to any distribution of revenues, and (2) pay to the university 25 % of the Net Revenue arising from the intellectual property or 10% of Gross Revenue, whichever is greater, on an annual basis.

University personnel are not obliged to use the university's services, nor is the university obliged to take on any intellectual property brought to it.

7. Administration and Amendments

Subject to the dispute resolution provision set out in Article 8, the Associate Provost, Research is responsible for the administration of this Policy. The Associate Provost, Research is also responsible for making determinations regarding various matters referred to in this Policy, including determining time periods, limitations on ownership rights, what constitutes private research, and ownership rights of academic personnel conducting externally-sponsored or research activities.

It is the responsibility of the Associate Provost, Research to review and evaluate these policies on an annual basis. Any changes to these policies that the Associate Provost, Research recommends, shall be provided to the Board of Governors of the university for consideration.

8. Dispute Resolution

The university recognizes that disputes may arise between the university and Academic or non-academic personnel and students with respect to intellectual property and the implementation of these Policies.

When an agreement cannot be reached between the university's Associate Provost, Research and the creator, the dispute will be referred to an internal three-person panel consisting of persons respected within the community for their knowledge of intellectual property issues.

The panel, whose membership will be nominated by the President and approved by the Academic Council, will attempt to resolve the dispute through mediation but, if that fails, will arbitrate.

The decision of the panel is final and binding and is not subject to appeal.

Letter of Understanding Regarding Transition Years on Workload Assignment

The University and the Faculty Association shall establish a joint working group in each Faculty to examine the assignment of workload of all Teaching Faculty Members in that Faculty for the 2015-16 and 2016-17 Academic Years. The working group shall have the objective of ascertaining the fair, reasonable and equitable allocation of Teaching Faculty Workload based on the criteria set out in Article 16.04.

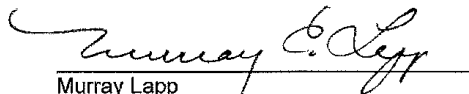

The Faculty Association shall appoint either two (2) or three (3) Teaching Faculty Members as representatives on each of these joint working groups. The University shall appoint an equal number of representatives for each joint working group.

Each working group shall collect and collate data on the workload of all Teaching Faculty Members within their Faculty and as appropriate from other Faculty working groups. Teaching Faculty Members shall be given the opportunity to apprise the working group of their individual concerns regarding workload. The Dean shall be given the opportunity to provide his/her perspective on the workload assignment considerations for Teaching Faculty Members in his/her Faculty. The results of these working group deliberations shall advise the Dean in workload assignment consistent with Article 16.04.

Each joint working group shall prepare a written report. The report shall address what constitutes a fair, reasonable and equitable workload in the Faculty. The report shall not address individuals' workload assignments. The report shall be forwarded to the Dean, the Provost and the President of the Faculty Association by March 15th.

Understanding it is not possible to fully complete the process set out above for 2014-15, the Deans shall be advised of the issues raised during the collective bargaining process and shall pay close attention to Teaching Faculty Member workload assignments for 2014-15.
